Student Applied Economics Research Training:

Majoring in Managerial Economics isn’t just business as usual.

When you study managerial economics at UC Davis, you’re becoming a resource for positive change. Your unique experience and learned insights can help businesses succeed and inform policy leaders about how to protect the environment and better serve California Communities.

If you’re a community college student interested in pursuing a degree in business and applied economics, we invite you to apply for the Student Applied Economics Research Training (SET) program. SET is part of our Diversity and Inclusion in Research, Education, and Career Training (DIRECT) Program aimed at attracting new talent into our discipline and creating a greater sense of belonging for all of our students. Members of SET can participate in a year-long series of hands-on learning opportunities. These include:

- Campus and Research Field Day
- Career Connections Speaker Series
- Research Seminars
- Summer Applied Research Course

Scan our QR code or visit direct.ucdavis.edu to learn more about SET and DIRECT and the impact you can make with a career in applied and agricultural economics.

Apply today!
direct.ucdavis.edu

UC Davis
Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics

If you have any questions, please email Program Directors Kristin Kiesel (kiesel@ucdavis.edu) and Steve Boucher (srboucher@ucdavis.edu).